Guest Speaker Last Meeting!

Christina Reid, County Extension Agent – Horticulture, and she brought a summer intern with her to operate her laptop for a video presentation that actually worked!

“For more than 100 years, the Lubbock Center has been addressing key issues for Southern High Plains producers. We develop and deliver information and technology that help production agriculture remain viable and profitable, while preserving environmental resources and improving the quality of life in our region.”

“For home owners, the tree landscape in Texas is made up of a variety of species. From ponderosa pines in West Texas to oaks in Central Texas to dogwoods in East Texas, trees play a vital role in the ecosystem and provide countless benefits. But, what about invasive species? There are three basic categories of tree species: native, non-native and invasive. Knowing where tree species fall into these categories is vital to the health of the overall ecosystem.

“All species are good somewhere, and all species are bad somewhere,” said Gretchen Riley, Texas A&M Forest Service Forest Systems department head, Bryan-College Station. “Planting the right tree in the right place, and avoiding invasive species, helps prevent devastating issues and bolsters the benefits a tree will provide over its lifetime. When selecting trees to plant, it’s important to understand where trees fall into these three categories and how that may vary ~~from region to region.” So do your ‘homework’ and find out before you plant a tree!~~

Weekly Bio: James Dugger

Raised in Brady, grad. Brady H.S., then Angelo St. Univ., B.S. Med. Technology. Met wife Melody along the way as he performed rodeo riding events in his free time! Ask him about his two lovely grown daughters! Went to UT Med. In Galveston, Specialist in Blood Banking! Rest is history...and 25+ years with United Blood Services, now Vitalant, and he’s now Pres. of the South Division of Vitalant!

Christina went on to tell us that we need to focus on Earth Kind Landscapes that follow the 7 Basic Principles of Conservation: - Planning & Design - Knowing Climate Zone you are in

- Soil tests if site is questionable
- Rainfall, amount and frequency - Irrigation needs - Think ‘long term’ for shrubs/trees - Plant selection: shade and wind tolerance, PH tolerance, mature size for where planted, local disease and insect tolerance.

Christina said she just hopes we made right choices this spring, if not, “...there is always next year!”

 Bits & Pieces

A girl called her dad and told him “I have a flat tire”. “Can’t you call your boyfriend?” her dad replied. “I did and he didn’t answer.” Dad asked “Do you have a spare?” Daughter replied: “He didn’t answer either!”

Yesterday, I asked Mimi: “What’s for dinner today?” She said “Nothing”. I yelled “We had that last night!” She replied “I know, I made enough for two nights”.

A friend of ours took going to jail very badly. He refused all offers of food and drink, swore at anyone who came near him and was unbearable. After that, we never played Monopoly with him again!
